

WYO

Foreword

College life, traditionally gay with youth, music, and laughter, assumed a newly serious tone as the University of Wyoming geared itself for war. Some semblance of school as usual has been maintained this year, undoubtedly the last such year for the duration.

We hope that the 1943 WYO will do more than present a summary of the year's events, and that it will recreate in your memories a vivid picture of this highly significant year.

THE EDITORS.

Capable Administration Steers Campus At War

Headed by President J. L. Morrill, the University administration has had this year an unusually difficult assignment. Their object has been to make the greatest possible contribution to the war effort while simultaneously maintaining a semblance of education as usual. The expanding naval aviation training program here, the army engineering training program, the many special "war courses" added to the curricula, and the men whom the school has contributed to the armed forces evidence their success. Traditional college training is still provided here for a sizable number of students despite the exigencies of war.

Since President Morrill came here from Ohio State University last spring, he has come to be recognized by both faculty members and students as one of the University's most valuable assets. Possessing the rare ability to be both a good fellow and a good administrator, Dr. Morrill leads the school in every sense of the word.

President Morrill at his desk in Old Main.

Dean Daly
Dean Galliver

Five colleges make up the University of Wyoming, and each is headed by a dean. They are Dean J. A. Hill of Agriculture, Dean R. R. Hamilton of Engineering, Dean P. T. Miller of Liberal Arts, Dean R. D. Goodrich of Engineering, and Dean O. C. Schwiering of Education. The school offers training of recognized quality in each of these five broad fields. Each college is divided into departments manned by able faculty members.

General supervision over living quarters, social affairs, and standards of students is exercised by Miss E. Luella Galliver, dean of women, and Major B. C. Daly, dean of men.

Though a number of faculty members have entered the armed forces, those remaining have increased their loads so that educational training of a high calibre is afforded in each department.

To The Men of the ROTC The 1943 WYO is Dedicated

Members of the advanced Reserve Officers Training Corps, men who were our classmates and friends, left school before the end of the year to help fight our country's battle. We appreciate the significant contributions to University life and tradition which they made as members of this student body. It is to these men, and to all other Cowboys who have entered the armed forces, that we dedicate this book in gratitude and pride.

Alpha Chi Omega

The Alpha Chi's live in their own house over on 1309 Grand, been there twelve years. It's kind of an exciting place, what with everybody swishin' back and forth. Each Mlle. has her days crammed with things to do and places to go, but the gals are never too busy to enjoy each other; and we do mean enjoy. Never hope to see a more congenial lot.

The girls have been engaging this year in some "cup copping," such as taking first in the Homecoming Sing. Some people label such things as accomplishments, but the girls just call it fun.

Like all good Americans, the AXO'ers are great joiners, and consequently office holders. Just look here: Priscilla Ann McKinney, managing committee, Big Sister ex-chairman, president of A.W.S., Mortar Board, Potter Law Club . . . Marian Booker, president of Phi Sigma Iota, past president of Alpha Chi Omega, Mortar Board, Panhellenic Council, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Beta Kappa . . . Shirley Spencer, Panhellenic Council, Student Senate, Iron Skull, president of AXO, secretary of general activities committee, Phi Upsilon Omicron.

And then there's Dorothy Peck, Spurs, Workshop Dance, Band . . . Barbara Evans, Workshop Dance and Iron Skull . . . Rosemary Staats, Spurs, Big Sisters, A Cappella Choir, Band . . . Connie Clem, Theta Alpha Phi and Band.

With two Mortar Boards and girls in Workshop Dance, Big Sisters, Choir, Band, and various honoraries, Alpha Chi Omega participates in 'most everything that goes on here.

Alpha Chis relax and enjoy themselves in the lounge of their home.

Alpha Tau Omega

Wyoming Gamma Psi is the oldest national fraternity on the campus, getting its charter in 1913. Since that time the Gold and Blue has played a leading role in campus social and curricular life.

Last fall the boys dug up the old iron fence around the house and contributed it to the scrap drive . . . whole chapter toiled during the day gathering scrap . . . ATO men play leading roles in every phase of campus life.

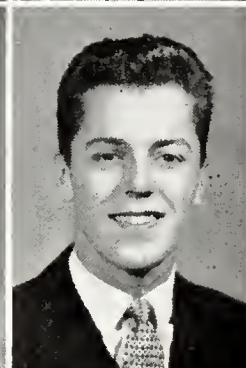

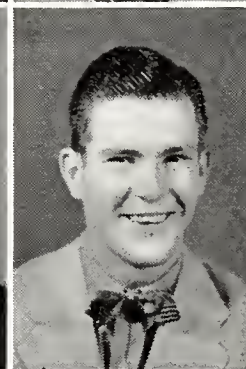

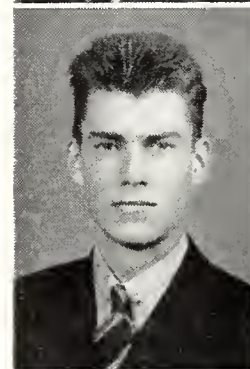

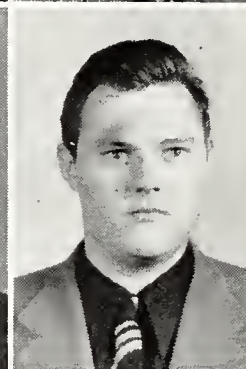

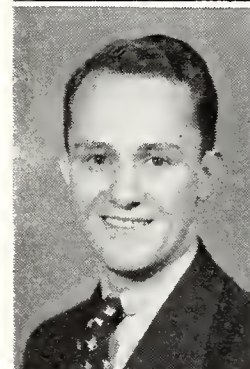

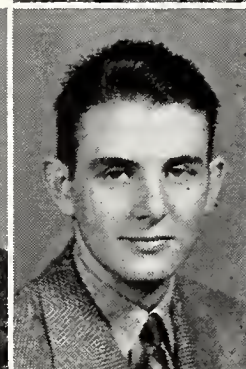

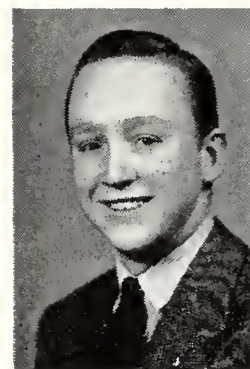

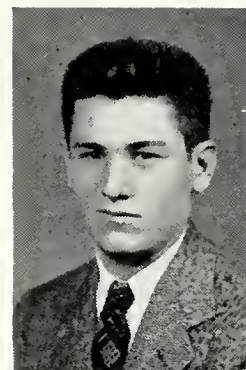

In athletics, Alpha Tau Omega has Dick Friedlund, freshman football numeral . . . Roy Peck, intra-mural boxing champ, track letterman . . . Jimmie Reese, varsity basketball . . . Bob Robertson, frosh football . . . Gene Smith, varsity football . . . Nimmo Taylor, first string wingback in football . . . Ronnie Whiston, baseball pitcher . . . Jack Gard, swimming letterman.

Activity men are Bill Bentley, freshman class president . . . John Davis, Scabbard and Blade, campus bond leader, dromotics . . . Kim Nelson, Potter Law Club, Student Senate . . . Roy Peck, sports writer, Blue Pencil . . . Larry Smith, Scabbard and Blade . . . Nimmo Taylor, Student Senate, Athletic Control Board . . . Jim Speas, Scabbard and Blade, state ski champion.

Big event of the year for ATO's and their dates is the annual winter quarter Bowery dance . . . ATO takes the lead on the campus in social life . . . won second in Homecoming Sing . . . fall quarter Sweetheart dinner is outstanding event.

That must be an important move Speas is so engrossed in making.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The dream of six years was realized this spring when Lambda Tau Delta, local fraternity, was installed as Wyoming Alpha of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Organized in 1937 as a local, the fraternity achieved a place of distinction on the campus. Full cooperation with the University has been the aim of the group. Its members have participated in campus affairs and have won their share of honors in scholarship, athletics, dramatics, and other fields.

Constant friendship among its members has always been a strong point of the local chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

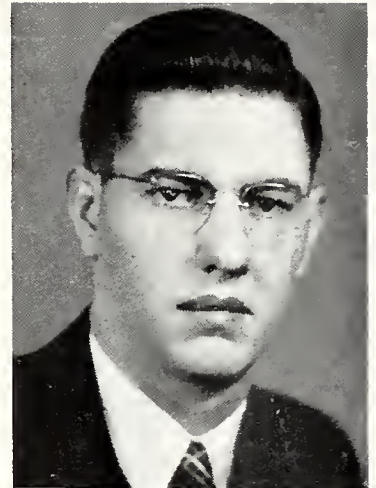

Like the other fraternities on the campus, the group has had its membership cut during the past year through contributing many men to different branches of the service.

Eilsworth Young led the fraternity this year as president. Other officers included Frank Hartung, vice-president and treasurer; John Rees, secretary and rush chairman; Jack Temple, social chairman; Harold Lochard, historian; James Clark, scholarship chairman, and Charles Ross, athletic chairman.

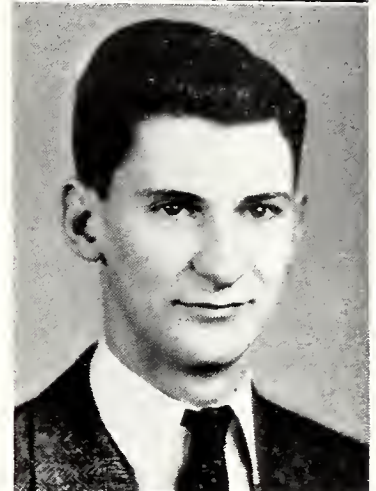

Other members who have been outstanding include Eldon House, Student Senate . . . Dwight Bailey, Scabbard and Blade . . . Kelly Berkley, scholarship.

When Sig Ep installed its chapter here May 1 and 2, several years of hard work and steady progress were rewarded.

Taking college in wartime in stride . . . taboo with jitters . . . contributing to the war effort as well as acquiring an education . . . that's Kappa Delta. Cooperating in the campus physical fitness drive, chapter members have entered into athletic activities this year as well as being represented in almost every woman's organization on the campus. Wearers of the KD pin participate in Band, Glee Club, A. W. S. board, Spurs, Big Sisters, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Iron Skull, and Phi Gamma Nu.

Kappa Delta started off the year by moving into a newly decorated house at 605 Grand avenue. A fast expanding chapter, Rho of Kappa Delta needed room to grow.

National Kappa Delta was founded October 23, 1897, at Virginia State Normal, Farmville, Virginia. The local chapter is the third oldest national sorority on the campus, being installed May 15, 1914.

Prominent campus figures on the Kappa Delta roster are Carmel Lee Johnson, Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, Big Sister chairman, A. W. S. vice-president . . . Aubyn Fulton, chapter president, A. W. S. delegate-at-large, vice-president of Phi Gamma Nu, Big Sister . . . Carol Clark, vice-president of Spurs . . . Nancy Putnam, Branding Iron feature writer . . . Marcella Maurer, secretary of Phi Gomma Nu.

Phi Delta Theta, youngest of the national fraternities on the campus, has improved its standing from year to year and is now recognized as one of the University's outstanding social organizations. The organization is second among all national fraternities in number of chapters and men initiated.

The Wyoming Phi Delts have continued their high standing this year with several notable achievements. Ranked first is the Homecoming Sing trophy which went to Phi Delta Theta this year for the second time in the past three years. Likewise rated highly were the Phi Delt blue ribbon in intramural basketball and third place trophies in intramural boxing and wrestling.

The Wyoming Phis have also contributed greatly to the war service, with over 75 per cent of the men initiated since 1934 now in the nation's armed forces.

Phi Delta Theta always has a number of outstanding men on the campus. Included on the current roster are Bob Jones, cadet colonel of the ROTC unit, Iron Skull president . . . Kenny Sailors, most popular man for the past three years, All-American basketball selection . . . Joe Minihan, student manager . . . Jack Shutts, president of A. S. M. E. . . . Lew Roney, varsity basketball and baseball star . . . Ray Swanke, varsity end on 1942 grid squad . . . Jock Moses, editor of the Branding Iron . . . Basil Cole, former president of Iron Skull . . . Francis Fillerup, Student Senate, president of Alpha Kappa Psi and Commerce Club.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

From classes, club meetings, dances, study at the library, games, and coke dotes come Kappas and their friends to find rest, relaxation, and fun in their red brick house, which is now a campus home to many.

Wearers of the golden key are seen in all phases of campus life—from ag college to law school, from dramatics to the Student Senate. They are proud to claim last year's Varsity Show heroine and winner of Theta Alpha Phi's "little Oscar," Wyoming's first track queen, Mortar Board secretary, class officers, and members of the Student Senate. Kappa placed second in the Homecoming Sing, and last year won honor books in French, music, and psychology.

B.W.O.C.'s include Margaret Bolle, chapter president, past Spur, Big Sister, Quill Club, vice-president of Theta Alpha Phi, pledge of Phi Sigma Iota, Best Actress of 1942, and Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges . . . Janet Hill, secretary of Mortar Board, Phi Sigma Iota, past Spur and Big Sister . . . Lucille Chambers, senior class secretary, circulation manager of the Branding Iron, Panhellenic Council, Big Sisters, Psi Chi . . . Jeon Foulkner, A.W.S. representative, Student Senate, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Iron Skull, past Spur . . . Frances Ross, outstanding campus musician, Sigma Alpha Iota, Kappa Delta Pi . . . Jackie Snyder, track queen, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Iron Skull . . . Margie McCullo, highest freshman woman in scholarship, French honor book, Spurs.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, founded on the Wyoming campus January 26, 1917, after many prominent years as the local chapter of Sigma Beta Phi, is one of the oldest fraternities on the campus. In almost any sporting event, campus organization, or social activity one finds SAE's as active participants.

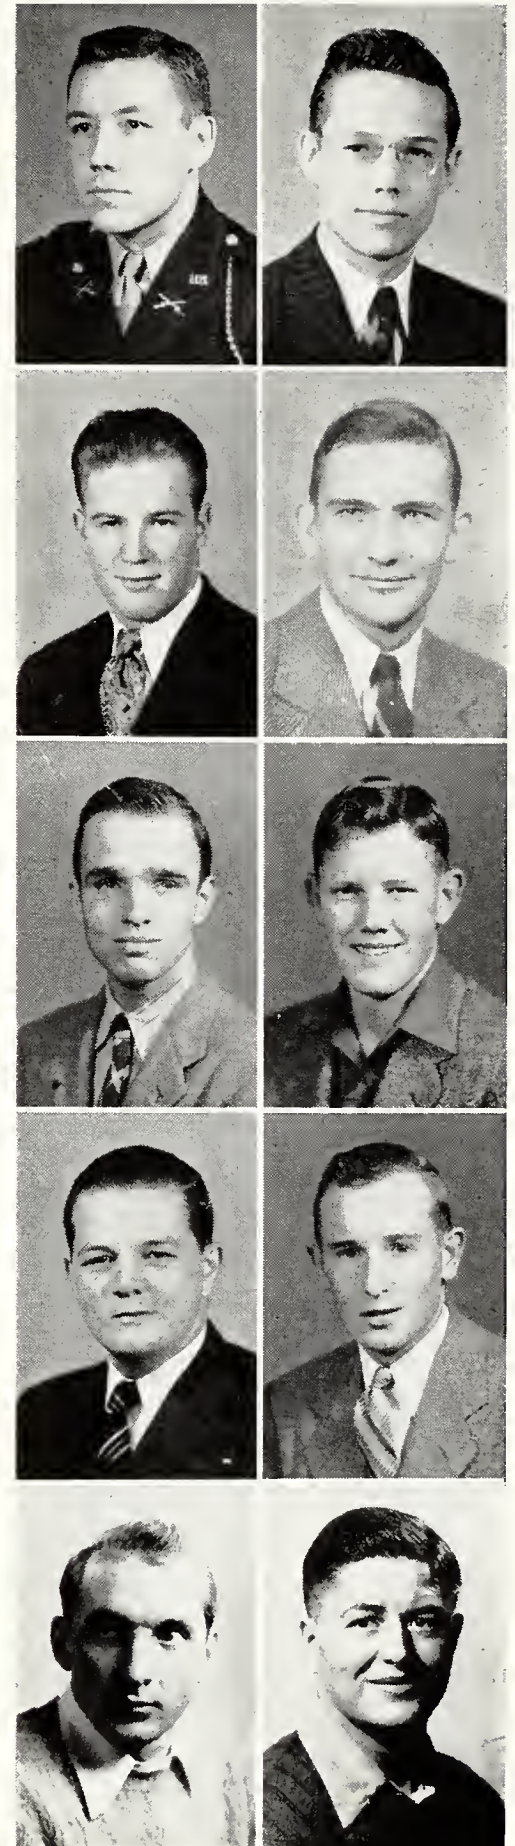

With more than enough varsity football players to field an entire team, and standouts in all other sporting events, it is only natural that SAE has been nicknamed "The Tenth Street Athletic Club." SAE's own football team would include Clayton, Ray, Feeley, Loving, Black, McGee, Chenaweth, Scott, Amedra, Kirby, Cross, Katana, Beers, and Samuelson. Helping the cause would be two freshman players, Tobin and Fabrizio. Varsity baseball players Putz, Rudy, Harvey, and Bastwick, with freshman stalwarts Copenhaver, Froggatt, and Miles carry the SAE colors on the diamond.

In basketball, Komenich, Katana, and Ray play important parts. Mrak rounds out the sports participation by wrestling on the varsity team.

Completing the activities of SAE are Dick Bostwick, outgoing captain of Scabbard and Blade, president of the "W" Club, Iron Skull, Potter Law Club . . . Paul Putz, treasurer of Scabbard and Blade, Iron Skull . . . Ed Halsey, Potter Law Club, Iron Skull, Scabbard and Blade . . . Dick Harvey, president of Wyoming Alpha, Iron Skull . . . Jack Froggatt, sophomore class president . . . Rex Cross, Student Senate, president of the Newman Club.

These SAE's seem to be concentrating on "Life," while Prexy Harvey mugs for the cameraman.

Neither beauty, brains, nor popularity alone is the keynote of Pi Beta Phi, but rather a combination of all three. The oldest sorority on Wyoming's campus, the local chapter of Pi Phi was installed in 1910. Occupying a position of honor among the Pi Phi trophies is the Panhellenic scholarship cup which the chapter won last year.

Pi Phi has four girls in Workshop Dance, one Phi Bete, numerous ski enthusiasts. The Pi Beta Phis have geared themselves to wartime living, and the arrow is pointing ahead to still higher achievements.

Wearers of the arrow who are outstanding contributors to campus activities are Teddy Ann Storey, chapter president, president of Mortor Board, Campus War Queen . . . Mary Kay Anselmi, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, honorary cadet major . . . Beverly Daly, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Sigma Iota . . . Miriam Binning, Homecoming Queen . . . Virginia Hufmeyer, Phi Sigma Iota, president of Panhellenic Council . . . Ann Phelan, new chapter president, secretary of sophomore class, Spur senator . . . Sigma Chi

Gamma Xi chapter, Wyoming's twelve-year-old representative of Sigma Chi, is one of the 100 chapters of the national organization, founded June 28, 1855, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

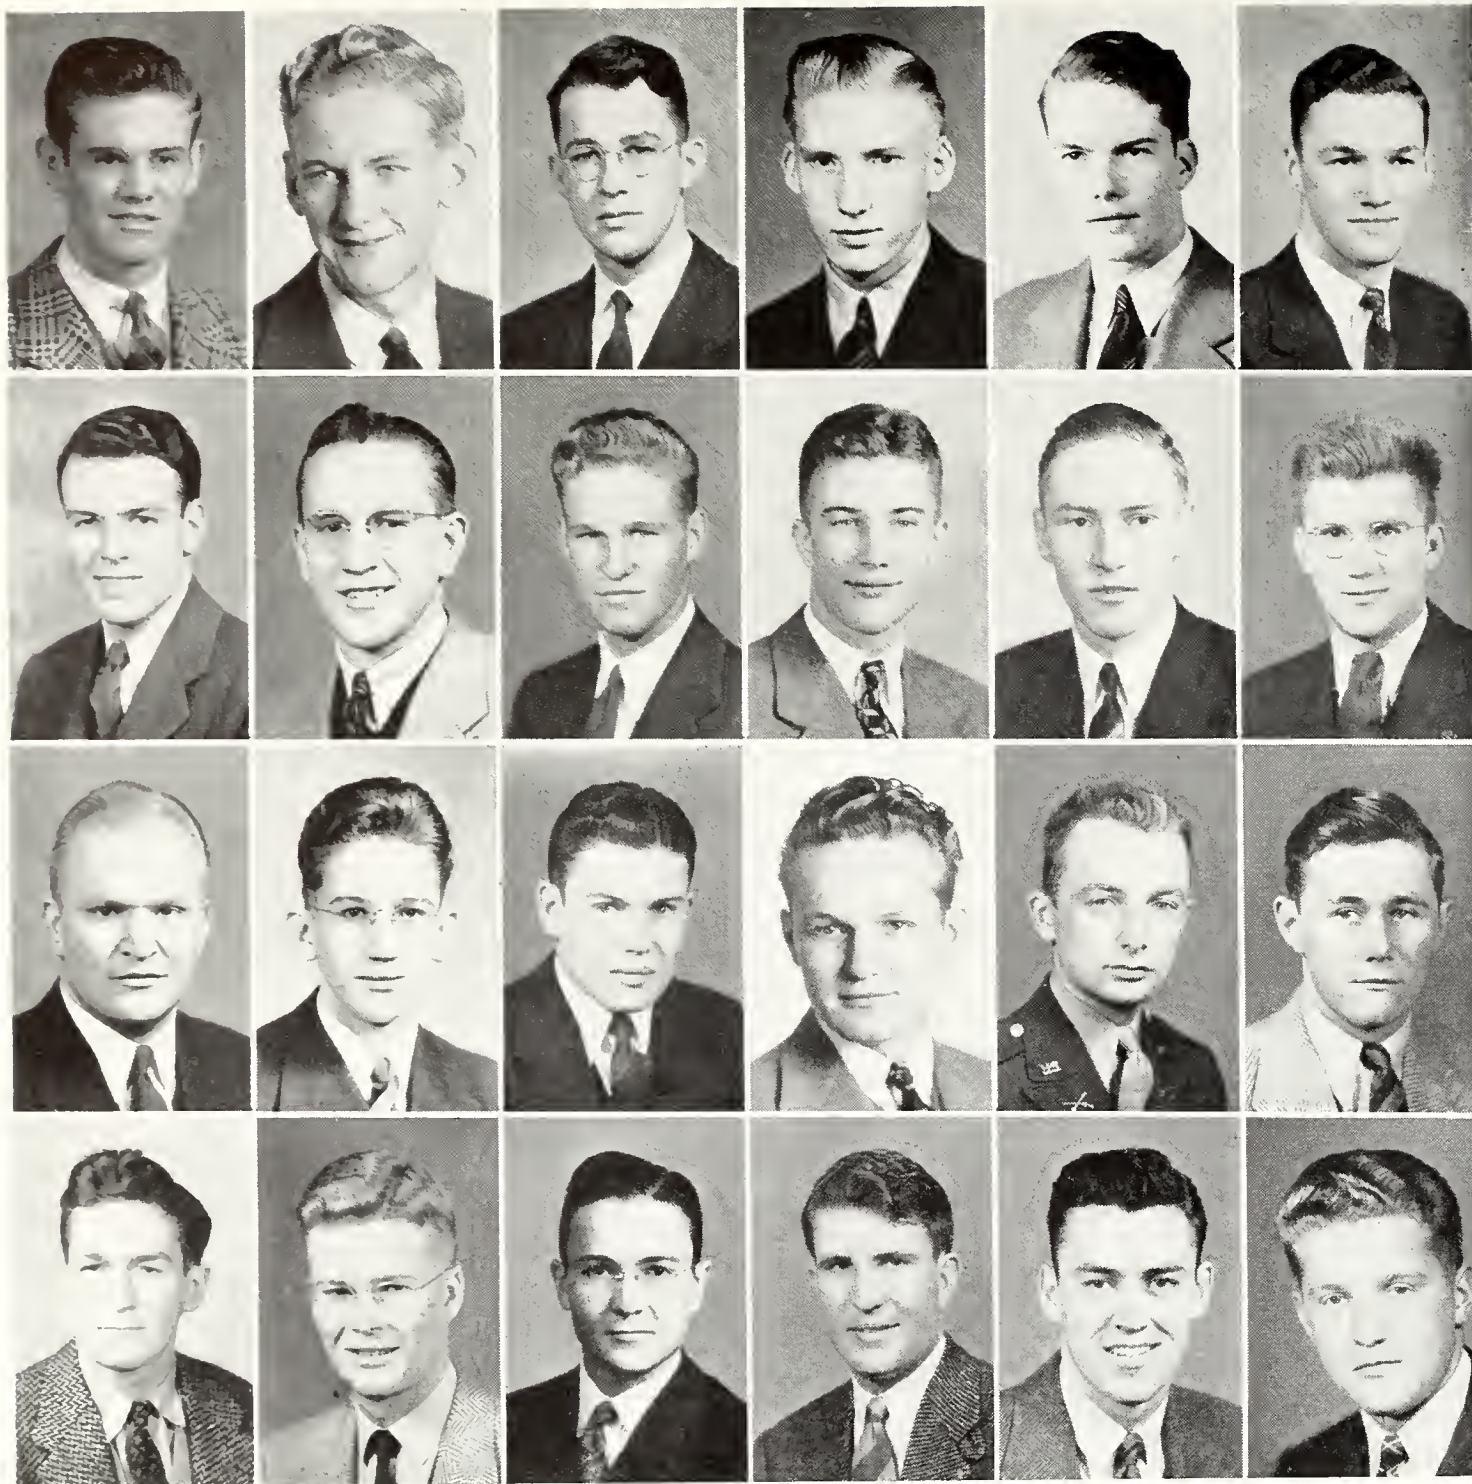

With patriotism at a high level, Sigma Chi leads all campus organizations with its purchases of war bonds. In addition to those members who have carried the Blue and Gold to the armed forces of the nation, there are 15 Sigs enrolled in the enlisted reserves, while 18 others are training in advanced R.O.T.C.

But in spite of time taken for serving America, bearers of the white cross are prominent in all phases of University activity. While the Sweetheart Dance, Pirate Dance, and Baby Ball annually set higher social marks, athletic and administrative achievements are constantly maintained.

Among Sigs prominent on the Wyoming campus are Bill Henderson, junior Senator, Union Managing committee chairman, Iron Skull, varsity baseball, Potter Law Club, Scabbard and Blade . . . Ben Laws, Sigma Chi president, Scabbard and Blade, Iron Skull . . . Jerry McDermott, vice-president of Student Senate, Who's Who, vice-president of Sigma Tau, vice-president of A.S.C.E. . . . Jerry Henderson, Scabbard and Blade, Who's Who, varsity baseball . . . Jack Weinbarg, Theta Alpha Phi, potential varsity wrestler . . . Elisha Fuller, Iron Skull, Scabbard and Blade . . . Elmer Peterson, Alpha Zeta, Scabbard and Blade . . . Joe Shepherd, chairman of general activities committee . . . Lloyd Linford, Psi Chi . . . Floyd Elmgren, varsity tennis . . . Leland True, secretary of General Engineering Society.

The Sigs know the art of relaxation, which they practice in the lounge of their home on Grand avenue.

Sigma Nu

During the past twenty-two years Sigma Nu has won the Interfraternity Scholarship Cup eighteen times. Last year Epsilon Delta chapter was awarded the Gallagher Cup, national scholarship cup for Sigma Nu, for the sixth time out of eighteen times awarded.

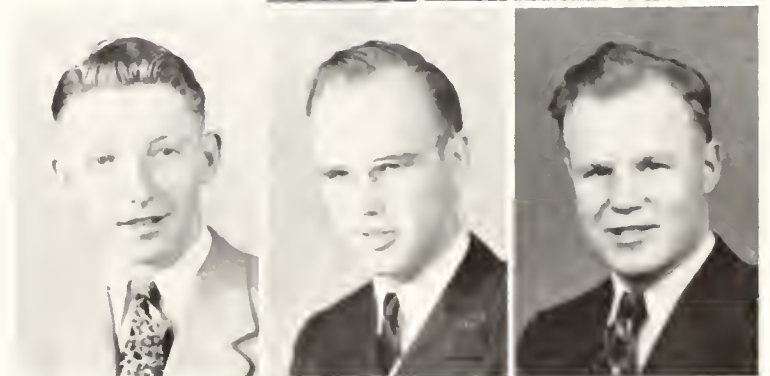

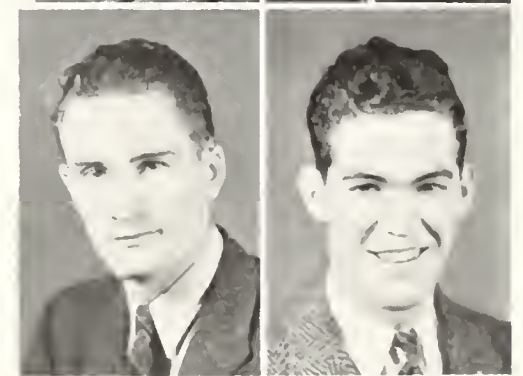

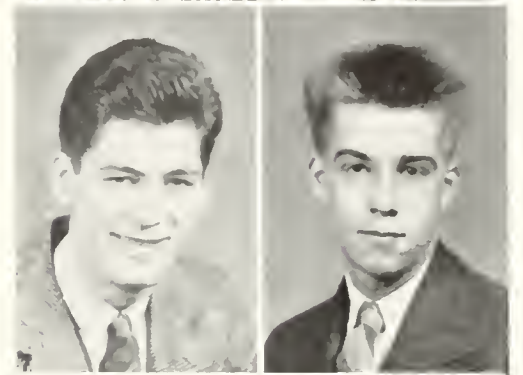

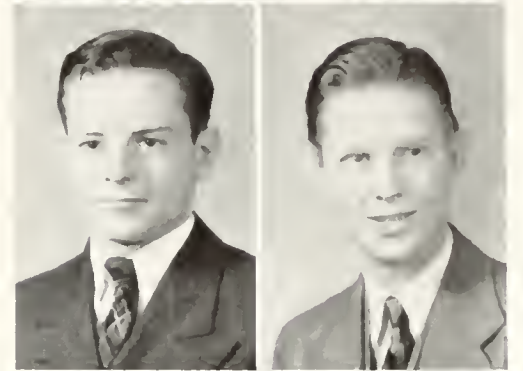

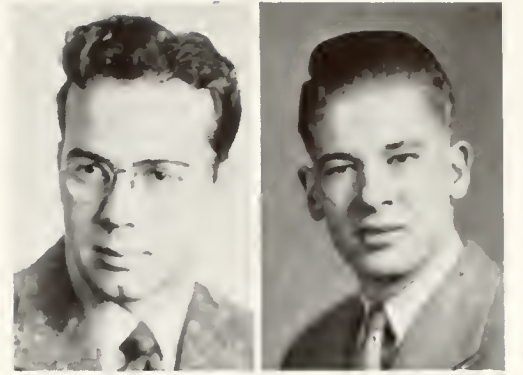

Yet Sigma Nu maintains its ideal, a well-rounded chapter. Statistically speaking, Sigma Nu men account for two Student Senators, seven Scabbard and Blade men, three members of Sigma Tau, seven "W" Club men, three candidates for honor graduation. Evidence of chapter activity is the trophy collection, the largest and most varied on the campus.

Among prominent campus figures on the chapter roll are Marvin Tisthammer, chapter commander, Scabbard and Blade, Student Senate, Alpha Zeta, Iron Skull, Senior Stock Judging Team, honor book in animal production . . . Wallace England, Scabbard and Blade, Who's Who . . . "All American" Jim Weir, varsity basketball for three years, Scabbard and Blade, vice-president of senior class . . . Robert Warriner, Sigma Tau, president of Gamma Sigma Epsilon . . . Ottis Rechar, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Who's Who . . . Bill Jones, Second Lieutenant, Scabbard and Blade . . . Bill Ellis, Student Senate . . . Leonard Palmer, outstanding freshman engineer . . . Jack Willi, varsity tennis, Scabbard and Blade . . . Floyd Volker, varsity basketball . . . Frank Gruden and Fred Haack, varsity football.

Sigma Nu has been on the Wyoming campus for twenty-three years and has initiated 460 men. Of these, 155 are now serving in the armed forces, 70 per cent of them ranking second lieutenant or higher.

We can't blame President Tisthammer for wanting this picture by the trophy collection.

Lambda Delta Sigma was founded at the University of Utah in 1936 and installed on the Wyoming campus in 1937. A combination fraternity and sorority, it is composed of the Alpha chapter for men and the Omega chapter for girls. Sponsored by Mormon students, the organization is characterized by a five-fold program of social, religious, scholastic, recreational, and cultural activities. This year it has a membership of eighty-eight.

LeNore Bagley and Glenn Lewis are presidents of the two chapters.

A group of Independents gather in the faculty lounge.

Independents

Organized on the campus in 1932, the Independent Student Association is a member of the Rocky Mountain Independent Association and the National Independent Association. Representatives from the local group are sent each year to attend conventions of both organizations.

More than two hundred students, who are not fraternity or sorority members, are active in the Independent Club. Activities include dancing every Monday evening, quarterly formal and informal dances, participation in all athletic and social competitive events, and a spring picnic.

Officers of the club include Clinton Hudson, president; Ed Ward, vice-president; Clifford Smith, treasurer; Ruth Christensen, secretary. Members of the council are Ural Horton, Anna Jeannette Christensen, and Martha Estes. Don Shanor, former Independent president, is president of A.S.U.W. this year.

Varsity Villagers is a local organization made up of girls who either live in Laramie or are making their home out-in-town during the school year. The group was organized in 1920 for the purpose of bringing town girls into closer contact with campus life, and to cooperate with A.W.S. in maintaining high standards.

Meetings are held every two weeks in the Nellie Tayloe Ross room of Merica Hall.

Last fall at the Homecoming Sing, Varsity Villagers won the cup awarded by Iron Skull to the outstanding independent group. Teas, dances, and informal parties have made up the group's social program for the year.

Varsity Villagers rank high scholastically and are active in such organizations as Iron Skull, Spurs, Kappa Delta Pi, Big Sisters, Theta Alpha Phi, Glee Club, Choir, Band, and Orchestra. Jean Paulus, Varsity Villager, won the University's first gardening scholarship, and Barbara MacKay played the leading role in "Desert Song."

Officers of the group are Margaret Wallace, president; Ann Levar, vice-president; Eleanor Noble, secretary; and Barbara MacKay, treasurer. Mrs. George Hollister is sponsor for the organization.

Merica Hall

Merica Hall is the oldest dormitory on the campus and houses numerous girls and also some Home Economics laboratories and classrooms. Weekly teas are held in the Nellie Tayloe Ross room, as well as many organization meetings.

Girls who want to practice what they learn in home ec classes have the use of batching facilities—keeps them in the groove, you know.

Serving Merica Hall as officers this year were Evelyn Coxbill, president; Marjorie Wells, vice-president; Ann Levar, secretary; and Bessie Kubota, treasurer.

Residents of Hoyt Hall on a Sunday afternoon.

Hoyt Hall

One of the busiest phone numbers in town is 2168. It belongs to Hoyt Hall, where one hundred and forty women students live. Girls relax at semi-weekly informal teas and gather for a big party once a quarter. This year life in Hoyt Hall has been enlivened by army officers inspecting the place with an eye to future use—makes the girls keep the beds made and floors clean, you see.

Hoyt Hall officers this year were Mary Faulkner, president; Margaret Burns, vice-president; Ruth Downey, vice-president; Sylvia Williams, treasurer, and Irene Bonella, secretary.

On her way to the Campus Shop for a coke we catch Mary Faulkner, Hoyt Hall prexy.

Knight Hall

Dottie Hartt looks proud of the new dormitory over which she is president.

Knight Hall residents gather in the dormitory lounge.

One of the most beautiful buildings on the campus is Knight Hall, newest girls' dormitory. This is Knight Hall's third year of existence, and once again the group was outstanding in Homecoming events. Jean Ballantyne, who reached final balloting for queen, is a Knight Hall girl, and the group won second prize for independents in the Homecoming Sing.

A popularly elected board governs Knight Hall, headed this year by Dorothy Hartt. Lois Scott, Betty Nelson, and Willa Dee Davis also served as officers.

Girls who live in Knight Hall eat their meals there in an attractive private dining room. Regular parties and a yearly dance make up the social program. Living facilities in Knight Hall could be compared with the best in any school.

Ellen Louise Hulme, Janet Hill, Marion Booker, Priscilla Ann McKinney, Betty Caldwell, Teddy Ann Starey, Helen Schwartz, Dena Shiamanna.

Mortar Board

With a three-fold basis of service, scholarship, and leadership, Mortar Board is a national honorary for senior women. Juniors who are to serve the following year are tapped in the spring. Tapping is always a big surprise and most exciting for the participants.

This year Mortar Boards devoted their efforts to coordinating women's war activities. Biggest project was establishing a card file with the war interests of every girl in school. Then the next step was to try to inform the girls of appropriate courses of study to prepare for war work. The group encouraged participation in Red Cross work and USO activities.

Mortar Board's recognition of outstanding underclass women was accomplished this year by announcing their names, since the Recognition tea was a "war casualty."

Big Sisters

Underlying purpose of the Big Sisters is to help new women students become oriented. The members contact prospective students during the summer, help them register, and give them aid in adjusting to college life.

Informal teas at which freshman girls met women faculty members were a successful undertaking of Big Sisters this year. Carmel Lee Johnson served capably as chairman.

Panhellenic Council

Panhellenic Council exists for the purpose of promoting friendly relations and a spirit of cooperation among the six member sororities. All sorority members are included in the larger group called Panhellenic. Rushing rules are made and interpreted by this body and a handbook published each year.

Greek meets Greek each year at the Panhellenic dance, held winter quarter. The organization usually sells huge "mums" for the Homecoming game, but this year flowers were replaced with defense stamp corsages.

Grace Foote is new Panhellenic president, replacing Virginia Hufmeyer. The office rotates among the six groups. Each sorority has a junior and a senior representative on the council and an alumnae advisor.

Associated Women Students

A.W.S. President Priscilla Ann McKinney glances up from her work to find a camera staring her in the face.

Supreme governing body of the women students is the A. W. S. board, composed of representatives of the various women's organizations. The board is concerned in all questions relating to the conduct of women students, except such problems as are academic in nature or fall under A. S. U. W. jurisdiction. "Smooth-functioning" describes the workings of this body.

In tune with the war effort, the A. W. S. Board has tried this year to encourage a program of good health habits, rest, and exercise among the women students. The Board also sponsored the mechanical aptitudes test given to all women students—girls learned that putting x's in circles can be more than mere doodling.

The most original costumes seen there in years made the annual A. W. S. Costume Ball highly successful.

Every woman student in the University is automatically a member of the Associated Women Students. Priscilla Ann McKinney functioned effectively this year as president.

Newman Club

All Catholic students enrolled in the University may belong to the Newman Club, which is a member of the Newman Club Federation, international organization. The local chapter was installed in 1921 and has grown steadily, having well over a hundred members this year.

The activities of the club are religious, educational, and social in nature. Retreats, lectures, and discussion groups make up the more serious side of the program, while the social phase includes parties, dances, and picnics.

Rex Cross was elected president of the group this year.

Potter Law Club stages a moot trial.

Named after a former member of Wyoming's supreme court, the Potter Law Club is open to all law school students. Activities of this group are both social and professional.

So that law students may gain practical experience, the club stages several moot trials each year, which are open to the public.

Social events held by the club include a banquet fall quarter, a formal dinner dance winter quarter, and a formal banquet spring quarter.

Homecoming Queen elections are sponsored by the Potter Law Club. This year the Lawyers stole the Engineers' "W" placed on the Engine Hall during Homecoming, which served to add fresh fuel to an old feud.

The club has lost a large number of men to the armed forces, but this is partly compensated for by the fact that girls in the club have reached an all-time high of five members. More than seventy law school graduates are now in service.

Officers of the group include Russell Combs, chancellor; Clarence Lucas, vice-chancellor; Priscilla McKinney, secretary; Joe Minihan, treasurer; and Lyman Yonkee, senator.

Engineers in the upper third of their class are eligible to membership in Sigma Tau, national honorary. The advancement of engineering is the chief aim of the society, which also attempts to acquaint freshmen with the engineering school and promote the interest of outside engineers in the University. Scholarship, sociability, and practicality are stressed by the group.

President of Sigma Tau this year was Roy Sutton. Other officers were Gerald McDermott, Frank Swaisgood, Ray Wilkes, Thomas Gore, Robert Warriner, and Edmund Appleby.

A. S. C. E.

All students enrolled in civil engineering courses may become members of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Activities carried on by the group are for the purpose of promoting interest in all phases of civil engineering. The local organization is a student chapter of the national society, whose membership is made up of recognized civil engineers. It was installed here in 1925.

This group helps sponsor the Engineers' Open House, engineering conventions, and, of course, the feud with the Lawyers.

Officers this year were Roy Sutton, president; Jerry McDermott, vice-president; and James Garrett, secretary-treasurer.

Scabbard and Blade is the only cadet military organization recognized by the War Department. Juniors and seniors in the advanced ROTC course are eligible for membership.

An effort is made by this group to promote interest in military training and establish a close relationship between our military department and military departments of other schools. Naturally, interest in things military has been at a high pitch this year, and Scabbard and Blade more active than ever.

High mark of the winter quarter social season is the Military Ball, over which three coeds reign as honorary cadet officers.

Quill

The American College Quill Club is a national organization whose purpose is promoting an interest in creative writing among college students. Members are elected on the basis of original manuscripts submitted anonymously. Literary efforts of the members may be published in "Parchment," national magazine of the organization. Publication of a magazine by the local chapter has been precluded by the war. Peggy Costin is chancellor of the group.

Blue Pencil

Chief activities of Blue Pencil, journalism honorary, are the Gridiron Banquet and Inkslingers' Ball, sponsored yearly by the club. Campus problems are discussed at the former event, and beauty and popularity winners announced at the latter.

Students must be active in publications work to become associate members of Blue Pencil. Four quarters of work plus a high grade average entitles them to full membership. Betty Caldwell is president of the group this year.

Spurs For Service

Each year twenty-six freshman girls who have been outstanding in campus activities are chosen to belong to Spurs, national sophomore honorary. One of fifteen Spur chapters, the local group was organized in 1928.

As a pep organization, Spurs always attend athletic contests in a group wearing their white uniforms and cheering the team vociferously. In addition, Spurs is a service organization. This year the groups sold defense stamps down town and also sold tickets for the President's Ball and the Victory Concert.

The group endeavors to participate in all worthy campus activities and promote a spirit of loyalty among the women students. Mary Winchell led the Spurs as president this year. Carol Clark was vice-president; Joan Gottschalk, secretary; Annie Lee Svensson, treasurer; and Ann Phelan, senator.

Spur President Mary Winchell smiles for the birdie on the Liberal Arts building steps.

Theta Alpha Phi

Theta Alpha Phi is a national dramatics honorary organized to lend support to the University Theatre and develop local theatrical talent. The group annually awards "little Oscars" to the best actor, actress, and technician of the year.

Darathy Stimpfig was president this year, Margaret Bolle, vice-president, and Jean Saunders, secretary-treasurer.

Theta Alpha chapter of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, national honorary chemical fraternity, was installed on the Wyoming campus on May 25, 1932. The national organization was founded at Davidson College, North Carolina, in 1919, and now has thirteen chapters.

Membership in this organization, which seeks to advance the cause of chemical education, is open to chemistry majors with high scholastic averages. Several faculty members in the field serve as honorary members.

Monthly meetings are held by this group, and the big event of the year is the annual spring picnic.

Phi Gamma Nu

Phi Gamma Nu is a professional commerce sorority whose purpose is to promote a high standard of scholarship among its members. Founded at Northwestern University, the organization has eight active and seven alumnae chapters.

Biggest event of the year for Phi Gamma Nu is their Founders' Day banquet held February 17. The organization has fourteen active members and nineteen pledges this year. You can tell the actives by their pins and also their red and gold sweaters.

Scholarship, service, and professional attitude are the factors considered in choosing members to Phi Upsilon Omicron, national professional home economics fraternity. Girls must have completed their sophomore year to become eligible.

Delta chapter of this fraternity was the first honorary on the campus, being installed in 1915. The organization has a three-fold program of social, professional, and educational activities. June Blunck was the efficient executive of the group this year.

In order to gain a close fellowship among the students majoring in home economics, the Home Economics Club was organized. All majors in the field are eligible to become members. The organization makes an attempt to recognize outstanding work done in this field.

Directed by the council, this club carries on a program with both social and educational phases. Sarah Bagley was president of the group this year.

The initial letters of Phi Epsilon Phi spell "pep," and that is just the commodity this national organization for sophomore men is designed to promote. Members can be easily recognized at football and basketball games by their bright yellow sweaters. Such events as pep rallies are right up their alley, and this year the group has also helped in such activities as scrap drives and stamp sales. Henry Foose is kingpin of the organization.

Ag Club

Membership in the Ag Club is open to all students of animal production or agronomy, including Mary Kennedy, the lone girl. Purpose of the organization is to promote interest and activity in all phases of agricultural work.

The "Little International Livestock Exposition," sponsored by this group, has always been an outstanding campus event. This year the show had to be dropped because of war conditions, but a very successful Homecoming Barbecue was sponsored for the first time. Other events of the year include the annual Ag banquet and spring picnic. The club is always active in helping to finance the stock judging teams.

Gail Wright was selected to serve the club as president this year.

Alpha Zeta

One of forty-four collegiate chapters in the country, Wyoming's chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary, was founded in 1933. The group holds monthly meetings with the purpose of promoting high standards of fellowship and leadership among students in agriculture. Basic aim of the organization is to further the interests of the profession of agriculture.

Oregon State College won with 3591 1/2 points, Montana State came second with 3586 1/2 points, and Wyoming was a very close third with 3586 points. Wyoming placed first in swine judging.

Members of the team include Arthur Radichal, Laramie; Marvin Tisthammer, Torrington; Amos Oleson, Greybull; Rex Ireland, Laramie; and Jimmy Speas, Casper. Radichal was second high man of the contest and high man in judging cattle, while Ireland was fifth ranking contestant and placed second in judging sheep.

Best in Years, But . . .

Built around a great bunch of sophomores and juniors, Wyoming's 1942 football team made the best showing in Big Seven conference play of any team the high-country has turned out since the conference began in 1937.

In winning three games and losing five, the Bernard F. Oakes-coached eleven was never outclassed in any game. A year more of experience and the Cowhands would have reversed four of their five losses.

Four members of the Puncer team received much mention in all-conference picks. Earl "Shadow" Ray, Cowboy junior tailback, was named to several all-conference first teams. Other players receiving mention were end Leonard Scott, tackle John Lentz, and guard Frank Gruden. All the latter three were playing their first year of varsity ball for Wyoming.

Wyoming's large squad lines up for an early-season picture after a practice session.

Fate Plays a Hand

Wyoming opened their season in Laramie against Colorado State's formidable Aggies. Early-season predictions had favored the Aggies to take the conference crown. The Punchers far outgained Aggies both on the ground and in the air, were inside the Farmer fifteen-yard line six times, but lost the opener 10-0. Dude Dent scored all the Ag points. The loss was charged off to experience.

The Cowboys hit their stride the following week in Provo. In a night game with Brigham Young, the Punchers walked off with a 13-7 win. Nimmo Taylor's sparkling 46-yard run for touchdown after catching a pass was a feature of the game.

Wyoming's next game was here with Greeley State. The Bears had the best team in the Little Five. They wanted a victory over the Punchers to fatten their record. But four Wyoming tailbacks enjoyed a good afternoon and Wyoming won 33-0. Roger Loving, Shadow Ray, Gene Smith, and Walt Andre all crossed the goal line, Loving getting a brilliant 60-yard run for a touchdown.

Off to a Good Start

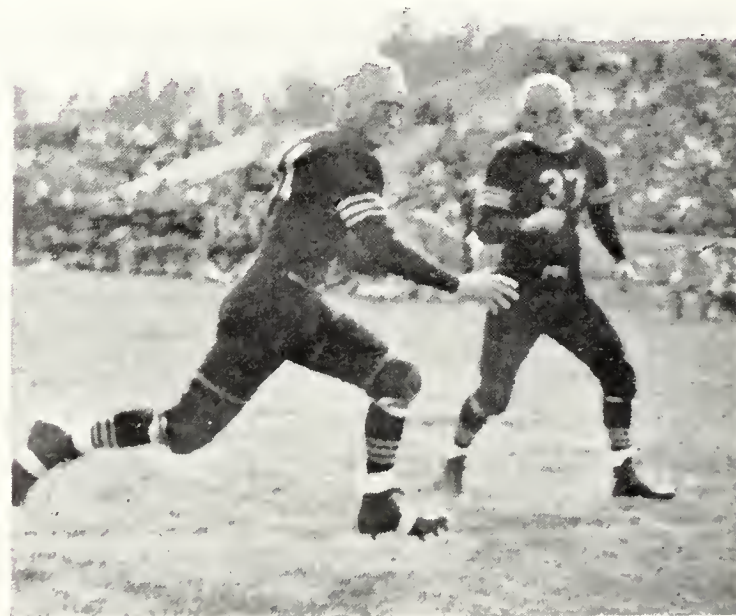

With visions of conference championships in their eyes and a great ball club to back it up, Wyoming journeyed into Denver for a game with the D. U. Pioneers. The game was carefully played and methodical. The Pioneers led 14-11 with a minute to go. Wyoming had outplayed the Pioneers most of the way and looked like a great ball club. Then disaster struck.

A freshman Denver back named Harold Hand faded back to his 30-yard line and threw a long, wobbly pass. Leon Diner, Denver end, caught it amid a pile of Wyoming players, wiggled loose long enough to throw a lateral to Tom Saracino, who scampered for a touchdown. Wyoming lost 17-14 on that last-minute play. They never recovered from the shock of losing that one.

Another Little Five team, Colorado Mines, got the pent-up fury the Pioneers had saved after losing the Denver game. Wyoming slopped through a muddy field at Golden to trounce the Miners 26-6. Dick Heasler's 46-yard run for a score high-lighted the contest.

Four action scenes as Wyoming battles Denver's Pioneers at Pioneer stadium. The Pioneers pulled the game out of the fire to win.

The Dream's End

After the Denver game, Wyoming's stock began going down hill. They whipped Colorado Mines 26-6, then took a week's rest. Theoretically the Punchers should have been well rested for their next game with Colorado's Buffs.

For a half Wyoming battled the C. U. team to a 7-7 tie. Then Colorado broke loose with a rash of touchdowns and demoralized the Wyoming team, winning 27-7. The Cowboys played the Buffs a much closer game than the score indicated. Injuries to Roger Loving and Dick Heasler which kept them from this game, didn't help any.

Homecoming for the Cowboys. Utah's conference champion Redskins provided the opposition. The game turned into an easy win for the Utes 34-7. This was the only game all year in which Wyoming was outclassed. At that, Roger Loving's 60-yard run for touchdown tied the score 7-7 in the second quarter.

A team that had gradually slipped down the trail from a great club to a bewildered bunch of players lost their last game of the season to an inferior Utah State team at Logan 14-6. Shadow Ray ran 74 yards for a touchdown this game, but most of the time Wyoming just slipped around in the mud.

If this crew of Wyoming pigskin carriers could be kept together another year they'd be sure-fire conference contenders. But the war has to be won first and the great sophomore-junior ball club is through. Dominic "Red" Feeley, Wyoming's captain, ended a brilliant three-year term as fullback for the Cowboys.

Wyoming and Greeley again. The Punchers were at their best here as they swept Greeley under 33-0.

Basketball at Wyoming Strikes a New High

Komenich towers over the other players to throw a pass.

The National Champion Wyoming basketball team pushed the University of Wyoming to new laurels this year by winning the title of national collegiate AA basketball champions and by defeating the champion of the National Invitational tournament, thereby becoming mythical champions of the U. S.

The season reached a climax April 1, when the Cowboys defeated St. John's, 52-47, in a thrilling overtime game in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Coached by Ev Shelton, the Cowboy team gained recognition and acclaim all over the country for their superior play.

The players in these pictures are literally reaching for that ball.

State Celebrates Cowboys' Return

After Wyoming's win of the national collegiate championship, the state's ten-gallon hat sailed sky-high, and the Cowboy team was welcomed back to Laramie and the University with an all-out reception.

Impromptu celebrations broke out all over the campus and city, and a Victory holiday was declared for University students, while Laramie merchants closed their stores for a half-day in their honor.

The team's return was celebrated with a parade and banquet, with many notables of the state in attendance.

Climax of the festivities came with an all-University assembly at which each member of the team was introduced and Governor Leslie C. Hunt gave the keynote address.

Intramural Boxing and Wrestling

Lambda Delta Sigma, by virtue of five championships and a second place winner, captured their fourth consecutive wrestling championship at Wyoming. In second place in the mat tournament were the Independents for the third successive year.

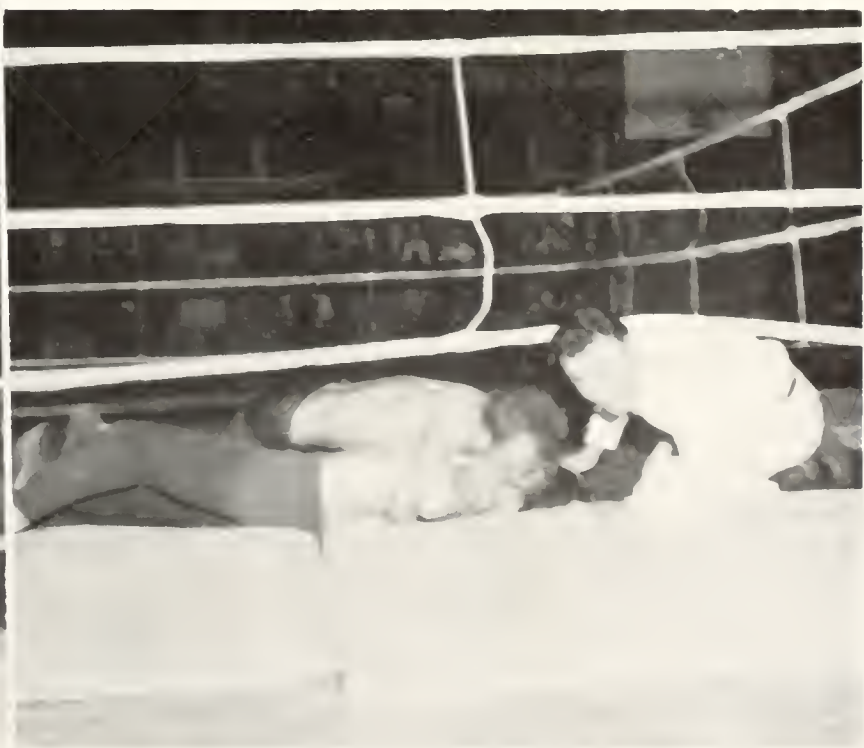

Don Wheeler, Kappa Sigma light heavyweight, clinched a tie for the championship by outclassing Anderson of the Lambda Delta Sigma. The victory gave the Kappa Sigs a 14-point tie with the LDS, who were seeking their third boxing title. In third place behind the two leaders, Phi Delta Theta captured both the boxing and wrestling third-place crowns, scoring 10 points in boxing and 10 in wrestling.

Dave Roberts, defending champion in the 165-pound class, successfully defended his title by overcoming a strong first-round attack from Harold Rollins, Sigma Nu, and was awarded a decision after a smashing third-round comeback.

Ski Heil!

One of the more popular winter sports on the campus, skiing, took something of a set-back this year due to war conditions. Although the ski tow in the Snowy Range was closed during the winter months, several of the more ardent fans continued their weekend treks to the mountains.

The Summit area also proved popular with skiers.

America's Favorite Game

With only one of last year's squad, Lew Roney, reporting back for this season of baseball, Wyoming's baseball nine underwent strenuous practices getting ready for their first tilts of the season.

Assistant Coach Clair Sloan and Coach Ev Shelton put the men through their paces.

Team members included Frank Gruden, Bert Martins, Bob St. John, Murray Roney, Willis Tilton, Kenny Tallman, Bob Martin, Dick Bradley, Red Young, Bill Wilson, George Good, Rex Miles, Neil Bellis, Alick Greene, Jiro Adachi, Josh Mayeda, Rex Ireland, Ted Butcher, Alonzo Lindsey, George Wada, Harry Exby, Al Menghini, Bud Capellan, Jim Collins, and Milo Komenich.

Under the direction of the Women's Athletic Association, an extensive intramural program is carried on in the women's physical education department. This organization sets the time for contests, regulates practice workouts, and directs the annual playday held each spring.

Fall quarter events this year were field hockey, won by the Independent team, and volleyball, won by Alpha Theta Lambda.

Two tournaments were held winter quarter. Alpha Theta Lambda won the honors in basketball, and Delta Delta Delta won the bowling tourney.

Pi Beta Phi won the swimming meet held early in spring quarter. Other spring quarter events included a baseball tournament, tennis tournament, archery contest, and a field and track meet.

Increasing interest in physical fitness as part of the war program has stimulated participation in women's athletics this year.

The W.A.A. Board who directed these activities included Marion Lester, president; Marilyn Flint, vice-president; Georgianne Flores, secretary; Evelyn Rose, treasurer; Alta Gaynor, senator; and Myrtle Lucey, sports manager.

Friendly, Enthusiastic, Sincere

JERRY RILEY rightfully holds the title of most popular girl on the campus. Possessor of the most contagious laugh in town, she always has a cheery "Hi" and a big grin for everyone. Jerry won her title in an extremely close election held at the Inkslingers' Ball. She's a sophomore in commerce from Green River. A member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Jerry is an enthusiastic ice skater and wielder of a tennis racket.

Popular Guy

Dynamic, Personable, Famous

KENNY SAILORS was chosen most popular man on the campus for the third time in three years. As captain of the Cowboy cagers, Kenny led the team to the national collegiate championship and won All-American honors for himself. He is now devoting the energy and ability which he gave to basketball to the United States marine corps as second lieutenant. Phi Delta Theta is the fortunate group which claims Sailors as a member.

Student Senate Enacts Laws

Organized five years ago for the purpose of devising a plan for financing the proposed Student Union building, the Student Senate is the legislative and policy forming body for the Associated Students of the University of Wyoming. The group includes twenty-three members, who represent a cross-section of student interests. The Senate has always been an active legislative body, fostering such projects as the Student Health Service, revival of the WYO, and the inclusion of the public exercises series in registration fees.

A. S. U. W.

Governs Campus

In semi-weekly meetings the Student Senate decides on general policies and plans. Then most of the administrative duties are assumed by the standing committees. The typical committee is organized with two Senate and two non-Senate members, plus one administrative and one faculty member.

Most active among the Senate committees are the executive, finance, Union managing, general activities, publications, loan, and social. Committee minutes are presented to the Senate for approval and then placed in permanent files.

That student government at the University of Wyoming compares favorably with other schools is demonstrated by the fact that the University board of trustees, the administration, and the faculty delegate broad powers to this body. Its members perform a real service for the school.

Gearing its program to war, the Senate has stressed this year such activities as stamp sales, scrap drives, and the Branding Iron Service Fund. This year's Student Senate has been up to past standards despite the difficulties of operating in wartime. Don Shanor has been a hard-working and capable president.

Marybeth Burns, sophomore, took over the student manager's duties after Minihan's departure for the armed forces.

The finance committee makes all approvals on requisitions for A.S.U.W. funds and approves various activity budgets for the year.

The Branding Iron Gets the News

Thursday morning is the time when everyone drops in the Union to pick up a Branding Iron, weekly campus newspaper. A member of the Associated Collegiate Press, the "B. I." covers the campus news adequately and well.

This year the Branding Iron was sent to hundreds of Wyoming men now serving in the armed forces. Contributions from various organizations to the Branding Iron Service Fund made this possible.

Like all other campus activities, the Branding Iron has been a bit harassed this year by changing personnel. Sometimes the staff tears its collective hair trying to get the news in and the paper out, but it's all good fun.

Jack Moses has served this year as managing editor and hence "big boss" of the paper. Don Shanor has kept the books in the black as business manager. Roy Peck began the year as desk editor and later was replaced by Ruth Ryan. News editor is Betty Caldwell.

The sport scene is Jack Lebsack's field, and social doings are up Patty Tobin's alley. Nancy Putnam obliges with a weekly feature story, and Lucille Chambers manages the circulation. Lila Mae Hofmann pinch hit all year and replaced "Mose" as editor spring quarter.

Those Who Made Your WYO

Nearly scrapped because of war exigencies, the WYO annual was published this year in spite of decreased enrollment and priorities on film and flash bulbs. Despite the fact that the size of the book had to be cut, Lila Mae Hofmann and Betty Caldwell, editors, have made a sincere attempt to give as complete as possible a picture of this war year at Wyoming.

When the finance committee of the Senate decreed that 700 WYO's must be sold in advance before publication could be attempted, Business Manager Kermit Eggensperger put over a sales campaign that resulted in the sale of over 800 annuals. Analylle Smith became "Doc's" successor when the army called, and handled the advertising for the book.

Those who have given valuable assistance to the editors in publishing the WYO are Roger Loving and Greg Fitzgerald, photographers; Ellis Brown, staff artist; Marybeth Burns, organizations editor; Roy Peck, sports editor, and Mr. James C. Stratton, faculty advisor and guardian angel.

Photographer Roger Loving, Business Manager Analylle Smith, and Artist Ellis Brown relax in the annual office.

The Desert Song

Nord Gardner uses his wiles on Barbara MacKay.

Highlighting the year of student productions was the presentation of Sigmund Romberg's famous musical hit, "The Desert Song." Featuring one of the strongest casts ever assembled for a University production, more than sixty people and a full orchestra took part in it.

Nord Gardner as Pierre Birabeau and Barbara MacKay as Margot Bonvalet headed the cast, with Ray Salisbury as Benny, Marge Manley portraying the part of Susan, Margaret Bolle in the seductive part of Azuri, Harry Thompson and Johnny Davis portraying the characters of Sid El Kar and Captain Paul Fontaine, and Jimmy Thompson as General Birabeau, Hale Laybourn, Byrne Gardner, Ted Hoy and Bob Spatz in supporting roles.

George Gunn, director of voice, was director of the production, and the departments of music, art, drama, and dance combined their efforts to make this one of the best performances of the year.

Spotlight and Greasepaint

Big event of the year for the University theatre was "Mr. and Mrs. North," presented Tuesday night, November 19. Leading roles were played by Margaret Bolle and Jack Weinbarg, well known campus thespians. Heading a large cast of supporting players were Kermit Eggersperger and Jake Lebsack. Dean Nichols, speech professor, directed the play.

Replete with corpses and even more so with laughs, "Mr. and Mrs. North" belonged to the type of mystery drama which keeps one in chuckles rather than in chills.

During winter quarter, members of the drama department read Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" at a Twilight Hour program in the Union. Participating were Marian Gibbs, narrator, and Ray McKinsey, Barbara Ann Benton, Jake Lebsack, Jack Weinbarg, Fred Berkenkemp, Nord Gardner, Shirley Baker, and Virginia Del Monte.

The drama department collaborated with the music and art departments in presenting the extremely successful operetta, "Desert Song," on February 11.

Wyoming Sings

The Department of Voice offers individual vocal training of a thorough and musicianly nature and is producing many accomplished singers on our campus. Several choral organizations of University students were quite active during this year. There was the always popular A Cappella choir presenting programs with varied repertoire; the chorus which sang Mendelssohn's oratorio, the "Elijah;" the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs giving their individual programs and uniting to present Romberg's opera "The Desert Song;" the male quartette and the women's sextette.

George W. Gunn, M.M., director of the department and acting chairman of the division of music, is the able director of all choral groups.

Dance Group Scores High

A strong interest in modern choreography has been created on the campus during the past several years by the Workshop Dance group. The group has no formal organization and is held together by the enthusiasm of the members and leadership of the director, Miss Charlotte Bergstrom.

Outstanding production of the group this year was Tschaikowski's "Nut Cracker Suite," the choreodrama given in May. Other dance programs presented were a tea recital, an assembly program, and a Twilight Hour.

The more advanced members of the group are allowed to create original choreography, and the calibre of the work done is very high.

Girls who have been members of the group this year are Margaret Van Wagnen, Maxine Roukema, Betty Mitchell, Mourine Fitch, Mary Boyce, Roberta Eads, Margie Edwards, Teddy Anne Storey, Gladys DeBerry, Mary Maxwell, Barbara Evans, Jean Ann Dunn, Judith Topham, Jean Boyce, Renee Howard, and Virginia Quick.

It shouldn't surprise you that this shot was taken during a Negro spiritual number.

University Band and Orchestra

The University band performs in a special assembly.

Regular public performances are given by the University symphony orchestra, under the direction of Robert Becker. This year the group gave a full concert in the fall quarter. In winter quarter, it participated in producing the operetta, "The Desert Song," and played for numerous assemblies. During spring quarter a concerto concert was given with student soloists.

The personnel of the orchestra is made up of talented students and faculty members in the division of music.

Chamber music groups under Mr. Becker's supervision have set a high standard in ensemble playing. The string quartet, Frances Ross and Elaine Crowley, violins; Sheila Wheat, viola; and Jane Holliday, cello, have appeared in concert and on the radio many times this season.

The University band has made about 25 appearances this year, including two concerts.

The Cowboy band started with eighty members this fall, and for the first time a girls' band was organized. During spring quarter, the loss of men made complete reorganization necessary.

Band officers this year were Bill Avery, president; LaVerne Clarke, vice-president; and Walter Klahn, manager. Officers of the girls' band were Patricia Sellers, Barbara MacKay, and Donna Toland. Drum majors were Nathal Occhipinti and Marian Jacobson.

Under the able direction of Col. E. V. Behan, the University ROTC is rated highly by military authorities. Working under an intensified program this year, the department prepared over 200 men to leave for duty with the country's forces.
